Many Cheers Greet Poet Scout and Jockey Garrison.

MIKE DWYER'S SHREWDNESS.

Littlefield Declares Eagle Bird Won Third Money.

When Garrison landed Poet Scout a winner by a head in the Shrewsbury Handicap yesterday, after riding a most magnificent race. It was a great tribute to the greatest jockey in the world. The writer could not help thinking at the time of the wonderful change that has come over the "Snapper's" ways since last year. Then his riding was regarded with suspicion, and many were the com-plaints that were heard about his mounts. His work was so bad that the Board of Control finally took him in hand and suspended him the remainder of the year. This was during certs at the park because the musicians had the Sheepshead Bay meeting. The young engagements elsewhere which could not be man has entirely reformed, however, and the brilliant work he has done in the saddle this year has carned him hearty praise from every one. There is no question that Garrison is the greatest lockey in the world, and he is entitled to all the paise he is receiving. His work yesterday was magnificent, and the owners of Sir Walter and Poet Scout can put it down that no other locker, save perhaps Taral, would have captured the stakes. Garrison won by a short head on each horse by his determined finishes. Murphy rode a fine race on Demuth. Of course, when the fight came in the stretch, the Snapper easily outrode his colored opponent. Poet Scout is undoubtedly a grand race horse, and there are many peowho believe that he can deteat Long street, weight for ages. The Monmouth peo

The all white colors of Mr. M. F. Dwyer were in front three times yesterday with Kingston. Chicago and Dagonet. The latter two, it will be remembered, were purchased by the Brookiyn turiman from Mr. John Hunter for $10,000. They were entered yesterday for the first time, and Mr. Dwyer undoubtedly won both out. Chicago was a hot favorite and Dagonet was the choice in the last race, running a dead heat with Stockton. The secret. of Mr. Dwyer's success is his shrewdness in placing his horses where they can win. Instead of Sending Chicago against the cracks, he drops him in a maiden race, gets a good price, bets heavily and wins unsuch more than the aversending Chicago against the cracks, he drops him in a maiden race, gets a good price, bets beavily and wins mach more than the average stake is worth. The same may be said of Dagonet. Kingston is fit to run anywhere. Other owners do not seem to know when and where to place their horses. For instance the owner of English Lady brings this mare over from Brighton to race against Post Scout, Demuth, Raceland and other cracks. The utter uselessness of putting English Lady in such a class is apparent. When she was taken to Brighton she was thought to have no chance, but the result showed that she was in her proper class, and she won. There seem to be very few owners that can place their horses well. All seem anxious to show who will to-morrow insult of the first time that they have Saivatora or Longstreets, and therefore start against the best.

An interesting incident occurred in connection with the Atlantic Stakes yesterday. Eagle Bird and Lawless ran in almost similar colors. At the finish the former was on the rail, while Lawless was in the centre of the track. They were only short heads apart at the finish, and Lawless was placed as the third horse. It is quite likely that the judges made a mistake. Eagle Birk, according to "Charley" Littlefield, who owned him up to just before the race yesterday, and no one should know the colt better, declares that Eagle Bird was on the rail. He thought, however, that perhaps Lawless had got up, and to satisfy himself went to the judges and asked what horse was on the rail. "Lawless" was the reply. Littlefield hughed and walked away, saying to a friend that "that was the first time another man know my horses better than my-self." Eagle Bird was sold to Walcott & Campbell just before the race for $10,000. Interest in the might have won.

The Wyandotte colt has been named Mor-dotte. Perhaps he may run better now.

Experiment started again yesterday and was unplaced. It will be strange if Mr. Geb-bard ever again pays fancy prices for phe-nomenal yearlings. Canvass and Experiment are costly failures.

Mr. Pierre Lorillard protested Queenle Trowbridge's win on Saturday, probably on the strength of the wild rungrs that she was a ringer. The Board of Control Investigated and yesterday declared that there was no foundation for the process.

Garrison wore a confident smile while at the post with Poet Scott in the third race yesterday. This fellow will run in 2.33. Jimmy," he said to Starter Rowe. His proph-esy was hearly fulfilled, for the son of Long-fellow won in exactly one-quarrier of a sec-ond of the record, which is 2.33.

"I wonder if jockeys are jealous of each other," remarked a gentleman on the stand yesterday. "I've watched them going to and from the paddock to the scales and they seem to take no notice of one another."

DALMENY AGAIN.

Lester, Mackintosh and Airshaft Finish Heads Apart.

BRIGHTON BRACH HACE TRACE, July 13 .-The Brighton Beach Association is certainly playing to big houses. Every day since the meeting opened on July 4, the course has been uncomfortably crowded and to-day was no exception to the rule.

Every seat in the grand stand was taken, and the lawn, to use a pretty name for the board flooring, was very crowded. The bookies did a rushing business.

The programme was the usual six events. with large fields in every race. The card ook very interesting. The track was dry and fast, Lord Dalmeny and Inferno opened even favorites in the first race, a dash of seven furiongs. The public, however, would have none of Inferno, and this Lord Dalmeny remained favorite, but was not as heavily backed as was warranted by his three wins since July 4. Firedy was also heavily played. Queen of Trumps was well played for third money, as were also Laliah and Eric. Lord Dalmeny won very easily from Firedy. Queen of Trumps came with a rush at the end and got third place.

The two-year-olds kicked up a great russ at the post in the second race. They delayed the start for half an hour, and finally got away in good order. Sandowne, a 7 to 1 chance, took the lead at the quarter and won from the favorite, Postmaster. Lisbon Maid, also an outsider, was third.

Lester, Cassanova, Mackintosh and Zampost were heavily backed in the third race. Lester finally closed favorite, and he made the talent bappy by just landing the money by a short head from Mackintosh. Airshaft was third.

Post Betting—Lord Dalmon; 5 to 5 and 1 to 2; Firelly, 3 to 1 and even; Interno, 7 to 2 and even; Queen of Trumps, 10 to 1 and 4 te 1; Erle, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1; Lallah, 15 to 1 and 5 to 1; Sportsman, 13 to 1 and 5 to 1; Louis H., 40 to 1 and 15 to 1; Kingsbridge, 40 to 1 and 15 to 1; Malachi, 50 to 1 and 20 to 1; Hippons, 50 to 1 and 20 to 1; Pely-dors, 50 te 1 and 20 to 1. dors. 50 te 1 and 20 to 1.
